Frosh To Sponsor 'Serenade In Blue'

College Men Offered Army Pilot Training

The opportunity for pilot training and a career as an officer with the United States Air Force which is open to qualified college men will be explained to St. Joseph's College men on Feb. 10 and 11 by a special Air Force Aviation Cadet Team, Lt. Col. Robert D. Grandmontagne has announced.

Married or unmarried men, 20 to 26½ years old, and physically fit, with two or more years of college, will have the opportunity to provisionally qualify for the flight training immediately when the traveling Aviation Cadet team meets here in the Reception Room, Ad. Building. The team is headed by Capt. Clarence Odum and is one of several which is visiting colleges throughout the country.

Train in Texas

Men who volunteer and are accepted for pilot training will train in Texas, Lt. Col. Grandmontagne said. Successful Cadets will be given their pilots wings and commissions as 2nd Lieutenants in the Air Force Reserve after only 12 months of training. They will go on active duty immediately upon graduation and can earn pay and allowances in excess of $4,000.00 a year.

Aviation Cadet classes begin every six weeks, and the top men in each class receive direct commissions in the Regular Air Force. All graduates have the opportunity to apply for regular commissions during their active duty hours.

LT. COL. GRANDMONTAGNE

The Aviation Cadet team will come to Collegeville prepared to administer all preliminary examinations to flight-training applicants. Those who meet the requirements at that time need only take the final physical examination and complete an interview later before being finally accepted and assigned to a class.

Basic flight training courses are given at Randolph Air Force Base, San Antonio, Texas; Goodfellow Air Force Base, San Angelo, Texas; Perrin Air Force Base, Sherman, Texas; and Waco Air Force Base, Waco, Texas. Basic training is given in single-engine T-6 Texans. Advance pilot training phases are given at two locations—single-engine in F-51 Mustangs and F-80 Shooting Stars at Williams Air Force Base, Chandler, Ariz.; and multiple-engine training in B-25 Mitchells at Barksdale Air Force Base, Shreveport, La.

Troubador Quartet Fourth In Speckbaugh Theatre Series

Thursday night, Feb. 10, the Speckbaugh Memorial Series will present "The Troubadors" in the fourth program of the current season.

"The Troubadors" are a quartet including two male and two female voices: John De Merchant, baritone; Ernest Lawrence, tenor; Mary Edwards, soprano; Sandra Warfield, contralto; and Merrill Brockway, accompanist.

Of special interest will be their presentation of several arias from grand opera, the first half of the program closing with the famous quartet from Rigoletto. The second part will contain lighter music from the repertoire of the group, featuring selections from "Oklahoma."

This program is one of three planned for the coming semester. The other two will be the "Don Cossacks" and Miss Nan Merri-man. For those who enjoyed Jean Dickenson, "Rhythms of Spain" and Eugene Istomin, the forthcoming productions should provide much entertainment.

Program of "The Troubadors:"

- I.
"Lime Twigs and Treach'ry"----- Brahms
Love Song Waltzes
- II.
"The Velvet Curtain"-----
Arias from Opera
A. Elsa's Dream (Lohengrin)----- Wagner
B. Che, Gelida Manina (La Boheme)----- Puccini
C. Duet from La Traviata, Act II----- Verdi
D. Scene and Duet from Il Trovatore----- Verdi
E. Quartet from Rigoletto-----

Distinguished Music Makers Will Play Latest Hits

With the theme "Serenade in Blue," the Freshmen class of St. Joseph's will sponsor an informal dance as their first social event of the school year in the fieldhouse on the evening of Feb. 19. Preliminary arrangements for the dance have already been completed by the class officers and advisory board.

Del Baker, "That Distinguished Man of Music," his piano, and orchestra, will set the mood for the evening with his delightful and romantic arrangements of the latest hits. Del established a fine reputation at St. Joe during his engagement for the 1946 homecoming dance.

Eleven Students Receive Degrees

Eleven St. Joe students have completed their regular course of study and are ready to be graduated, it was announced by the Reverend Walter Pax, Dean of the College. They will receive degrees of Bachelor of Arts or Bachelor of Science, for their work up to the end of the fall semester of 1948.

They are as follows:

- Francis T. Bauer, Monterey, Ind.; A.B. in History.
William F. Brennan, Chicago, Ill.; A.B. in English.
Linus J. Brungardt, Walker, Kansas; A.B. in History.
Charles T. Ormsby, Kokomo, Ind.; A.B. in English.
Joseph A. Paulson, Gary, Ind.; B.S. in Physical Education.
Kenneth P. Platt, North Canton, Ohio; A.B. in History.
John C. Rasak, Flint, Michigan; B.S. in Biology.
Bernard J. Reuille, Fort Wayne, Ind.; A.B. in Economics.
Frank P. Staucet, Whiting, Ind.; B.S. in Physical Education.
Charles L. Voors, Fort Wayne, Ind.; A.B. in Economics.
Stephen G. Zabrecky Jr., Whiting, Ind.; A.B. in Education.

Al Schrauben, Robert Rausch and Donald De Lave have undertaken the task of acting as co-chairmen of the dance committee and are in charge of decorations. Their plans include a false ceiling of balloons, five huge roman pillars and one hundred mysterious prizes for one hundred fortunate girls.

Committees Named

Charles George has been appointed chairman of the housing committee and may be contacted for information regarding the rental of rooms on the campus and in town. John Bassett is committee head of the ticket, publicity, and favor program. William Nye will conduct the "Blind Date Bureau" and attempt to procure dates for students desiring them. The clean-up crew will be led by Edward Cobbett. Robert Zengler will make with the soft lights and dreamy shadows.

The price of the bids has been established at three dollars. They may be procured from any member of the dance committee, or from various ticket agents who will be on hand in the cafeteria during the supper hours in the near future.

Relief Drive Chairmen

European Student Relief Drive chairmen, Joe McGrath, Bob Daly, and Sam Mondello are pictured above with the 1948 Chevrolet sedan, first prize in the contest which ends March 3.

WHAT'S THE ANSWER?

Returns from the European Student Relief Drive indicate that the students at St. Joseph's have not entered into the spirit of the drive. Of the 1725 books issued, only 309 have been sold by students.

This drive is the biggest thing of its kind ever undertaken by the students of this school, and it has the wholehearted approval of the college president and members of the faculty. Why then is it falling short of expectations? The answer is simple: The students are not giving it their cooperation. Where do you stand?

A Campus Danger Spot

One of the admittedly great problems which the coming of winter brings is that of icy roads and the consequent danger of accidents caused by sliding cars. It is not as great a problem in Collegeville as in other communities of comparable size. This is due to the fact that there is not much traffic, and what there is, is fairly slow moving. However, the freezing over of roadways does present one situation here which if not realized as dangerous may end in injury to someone.

Some time ago, when the stretch of gravel from Science Hall to the Rec Hall was coated with a glass-like surface of ice, a car was seen to make a right turn in front of Science, and slide clear around the curve. It was late evening and fairly dark. A student who was walking down the road jumped out of the way in time to keep from getting smashed. He was pretty lucky, but the next time he might not be.

As it is next to impossible to keep ice from forming on the road, the problem must be approached from a different angle. If cars cannot be kept from sliding, then the students must be kept out of their path, and that means they must stay off the road.

A difficult thing to accomplish: a student leaving the Rec Hall and heading for the main buildings, or vice versa, automatically heads for the middle of the road. The shoulders are too muddy to walk on, and the outer edges of the roadbed are lined with egg-sized stones which ruin shoes and make progress slow. The natural place to walk then, is the smooth center.

This department proposes that a good sidewalk be built along the side of the road from Science Hall to Recreation Hall.—D.L.C.

Spur O' the Moment

THE WAY IT HAPPENS

Place: St. Joseph's College, Collegeville, Ind.

Scene: Local lair of the returning Puma.

Time: The night after first-day classes of the second semester. (Tom and Joe are holding one of their usual intellectual conversations.)

Tom: Joe, I'm telling ya' I got a new outlook on this study for the second semester.

Joe: Yeah?

Tom: There'll be no more of this cramming for finals when June rolls around. No Siree, you're lookin' at a man of strong will and ambition—a guy that's really gonna hit those books.

Joe: Yeah?

Tom: I got a plan doped out that can't miss. This kid's gonna stay on the ball all the time. None of this getting behind in class. It just takes an hour of study for each class every night—just a simple little thing like that. Joe, why can't more guys be like me and work out a plan for study.

Joe: Yeah?

Tom: Oh, I know I've said this before—but this time is different. I've made up my mind and nothing is going to change it. Yes sir, they don't call me "Terrible" Tom for nothing. You just watch my smoke. Why it would take a herd of stampeded buffalo to get me out of this room tonight.

Joe: Say Tom, I've been thinkin'. Maybe we ought to go down to "Jabber's" first and have a nice cool beer—just for old times' sake. You know—kinda prime ya' for all this hard studyin' you're gonna do.

Tom: Well... Naw, can't do it. I got three classes to prepare for tomorrow.

Joe: Aw, just a couple small ones, Tom. Ain't your throat kinda' dry right now? It just ain't right to sit around with a dry throat and try to study when a couple of cold ones are just waitin' to moisten your parched lips.

Tom: Come to think of it—it is kinda' hot in here.

Joe: Sure the fresh air will do ya' good—make your brain more receptive.

Tom: (Walking down to Jona's with Joe) You know Joe, you get some great ideas. A guy can't beat his brains out all the time. Good thing I got you around—a guy's liable to crack-up! Can't study too much.

Joe: Yeah!

Writer Reveals Stuff Editor's Hectic Life

BY UTAH CUMMINGS

Every other Wednesday afternoon, the rover boys of this institute crowd the local post office, open their respective mail boxes, and say, "Aw, nuts! Another STUFF!"

Every other Wednesday night, the gentlemen of the fourth estate enter a dimly-lit and smoke-filled room in the publication building, and prepare to issue forth another fine example of journalism.

Rugged Editor

And halfway through these meetings, Rugged Ralph, the editor, a cigarette dangling from his mouth, hair awry, and talking like Edward G., suddenly stabs a finger at a quiet, unassuming little man and says, "All right, wise guy, I want another feature from you." Rugged Ralph is drunk with power.

Rugged Ralph feels a deep hatred for the quiet, unassuming little man. It all goes back to a quiet Wednesday night in early October, when the news came out that a local rehabilitation group was offering ten dollars (American money) for the best essay about their work.

Needed Cash

Rugged Ralph borrowed a ceruptometer and figured that the 10 bobs would keep the staff in beer for at least a week, so he began a concerted drive to make all the staff write essays. The young impressionable feature writer went home, filled with the fire of devotion and loyalty to the editor, sat down at his typewriter and wrote, "The National Federation of..." It went on for 150 words, and was a masterpiece.

Time passed. Christmas came and went, and Rugged Ralph, the poor man's Ernie Pyle, got thirsty.

"Hey, copy boy!" he called to the feature writer, "who won the 10 gold pieces in the essay contest?"

"I guess nobody did," the bashful boy answered. "I was the only one who entered, but Sam, who started the contest, won't give me the prize."

"What?" cried the editor. "Why, that cheap, tightwad! He can't do this to us."

Things Get Rough

He grabbed a fistful of the feature writer's shirt. "Demand your rights," he said. "If you don't, I'll give you so many assignments you'll have a sprained typewriter in a month."

But Sam, who sponsored the contest, wouldn't pay. The editor remained sober. The feature writer was given many more assignments. STUFF comes out as usual, every other week, and Rugged Ralph is ready to sell his typewriter for beer money.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Veterans Administration offers five "helpful hints" for veterans who wish to reinstate lapsed National Service Life Insurance term policies.

They are:

1. If possible, the policy should be reinstated before it has been lapsed longer than three months. In most cases, early reinstatements make qualifying physical examinations unnecessary.

2. All questions on the reinstatement application should be answered. Failure to do so means a delay in regaining insurance protection.

3. The application must be dated. If not dated, it is not valid.

4. The application must be mailed to VA within five days. If the postmark is later than five days of the date on the application, a new form will be required.

5. Two monthly payments required for reinstatement must accompany the application. Without premium payments, VA cannot reinstate the insurance.

DISC MISC

BY HOWIE CUMMINGS

Now that the various recording companies seem to be back in full stride once more, the editors of STUFF deemed it a likely idea to put a column here and provide some news about records and maybe a bit of background on some of same.

Tastes vary in music from the sublime to Mr. Jones' non-conformist attitude on things, and doubtless this little effort will fail in its appeal to many. Yet we feel that most Pumas interested in records would prefer to read about the records they are listening to these days; namely, the ones they pay nickels to hear on the juke-boxes and those they plunk six-bits or more to own.

The big thing since the ban is the introduction of the new "long-playing" microgroove discs. They were first introduced by Columbia with a turning speed of 33 and 1/3 r.p.m., and now RCA's 45 r.p.m. disc appears on the scene with a 7-inch platter.

Smaller Discs Planned

Columbia has its masterworks on 12-inch and 10-inch and its popular on 10-inch, and plans to have a smaller one out soon. I heard a 10-inch long-playing job by Les Brown the other day—and terrific is the word. Eight numbers on one disc—we've come a long way.

A pretty fair buy can be had, by the way, of the Columbia 1/p turntable right here in Rensselaer at $19.95. Three weeks ago (last visit) they cost $29.95 in Chicago.

With relief, I see that the stories on the quitting of Stan Kenton were greatly enlarged. The lean Kansan insists that his "retirement" is merely temporary, much like the one he took from May 'till Sept. in '47. Only time his health was good. He says he will reorganize next summer or fall. The field of Psychology stands unassailed by Good Stan.

How Good Can You Get Dept. . . .

Columbia's Les Brown really sneaked in a smasher with his "I Got My Love To Keep Me Warm." This one is really an "our song" of more than one Puma and his lady and seems to be headed for national hit status.

Elliott Laurence's "Greatest Boy of My Life" is also a goodie, and how about Frankie Carle's job on "Little Jack Frost, Get Lost" with the vocal by his daughter Marjorie Hughes. Have to give it a "muy bien" rating, with a prediction for great success.

GAG BUSTERS

BY BOB BEECHING

Sifting information gathered by our independent wire system (the campus grapevine), is usually a difficult task, but this issue it was made simple by Charles "Ibid" Gerst. The man really deserves a "leather medal" for his timely aid.

Official communiques revealed today that Gerst, while doing some research work for a term paper, encountered the word "Ibid" in the footnotes. In fact he saw it so often his curiosity was aroused to the point of investigation. His quest resulted in a one-hour search for the book in the library. "Ibid" that is.

Any resemblance in this story to persons living or dead is most certainly intended. It really happened.

We have all noticed the cattle grazing in the field north of Drexel Hall, and informed people know this is a method of fertilization. One student was uninformed. It happened thus. "Red, the character" Johnson, off on one of his tangents, decided to rope and ride one of "them-thar-critters," but being no "Red Ryder," after making a few inaccurate tosses with his lariat, he gave up in disgust. There was no riding done that day, but one thing was accomplished: "Cowboy" Johnson christened his new boots.

Do you believe in Ghosts? According to Jim Kennady, they are not only real, but they make personal appearances in his room. It would appear that Seifert is haunted.

"I awoke with a strange feeling of uneasiness," he said. "And when the thing materialized, I screamed." The ghost was aided by some very weird manifestations. "A chair moved across the room without any means of locomotion," Kennady said.

Reliable sources intimate a hoax. The seance appears to be the brain-child of "Two-ton" Duffy, at least Duffy and a bedsheet are responsible for the apparition. A rope tied to a leg of the chair produced the eerie movements. Let's hope the big tackle and his stooges can scare the Pumas' gridiron foes as thoroughly next season.

Last week was thrift week; at least it was for John Righeimer, one of the campus' better known "string-savers." Trying to live within his budget, John was caught sneaking into the dance at the Armory, Saturday night. To understand this, you must first realize that the local "hog-wrastle" employs the ultimate in modern equipment. They stamp a large letter "R" on the hand of all customers. After borrowing a fountain pen, John the old "penman," made what he considered a reasonably accurate facsimile. The ruse did not work, however, because the "R-checker" had polished up her bi-focals for the occasion, and Righeimer was given the old "heave-ho."

It is reasonable to assume that after three winters this side of the Mason-Dixon, Bud "Rebel" Greif would get used to the climate. This is not the case. Last week, when Bud entered the "Rec" hall, he looked like a man who had just beaten a hotel bill. His ensemble included fur-lined hat, complete with ear-muffs, mittens, overcoat, wool-lined jacket, a scarf, and two pair of socks. When asked where he left the suitcase, he replied, "It's cold, maaaaan." The temperature had reached an all-time low of 30 degrees above zero.

At last we have discovered a reasonable theory as to the cause of the recent disturbances in Drexel Hall. According to "Jocko" Sullivan, the disturbances, better known by the trade-name of firecrackers, were apparently made by someone who had mistaken the feast of the Epiphany for the Fourth of July.

Puma Loss String Broken In Win Over Huntington

Cosgrovemmen Dispel Road Jinx; Boast 7 Victories, 6 Defeats

Breaking a five-game losing streak and winning their first road game of the season, the St. Joseph Pumas felled the Huntington Foresters, 65-54, Jan. 27, at Huntington, Ind.

The easy victory gave Coach Art Cosgrove's charges a season's record of seven wins and six setbacks. Sophomore guard George Peters was unwrapped as a surprise package by Coach Cosgrove and he didn't disappoint as he poured 20 points through the hoop to lead the Cardinal and Purple attack.

Previously, the Pumas had dropped decisions to St. Ambrose, Valparaiso, St. Norbert's, and Ball State, running their winless drought to five games.

Rebound Round-Up

Jack Dwyer (10), Puma center, goes high into the ozone to grab a rebound during the St. Joe-St. Ambrose tilt in the College fieldhouse. Big Bill Krodel (11), Puma forward, is making sure that the Cardinal and Purple cagers take possession. The Bees won the fracas 60-57.

Fast Action in I-M Loop

Roy Stone (25) of the "J" Boys moves in fast to tie up Bob Laney (33) of Paddy's Pigs during play in the Intramural loop. Bud Greif (behind Laney) and Bob Doyle are coming up to assist respective teammates. Paddy's Pigs won the contest 26-20 to take over undisputed lead in the league race.

Pugnacious Joe Pumas Busy Themselves Building Bulging Biceps in Gymnasium

The ancient Greeks and venerable Spartans were of the firm conviction that a man is not fully developed if he only has a knowledge-filled brain. According to them, massive muscles must drape the frame that houses the bulging brain, or the man is not complete.

Not to be outdone by the old masters, the good elders of the thriving metropolis of Collegeville have placed bar bells, jumping ropes and punching bags in the balcony of the gymnasium for the convenience of the students.

The outlay in money was not too great. The income in sprains, bruises and sore muscles has been most gratifying.

For the pugnacious Pumas of St. Joe are spending much time developing the art of the slow press, and trying to make 170 pounds go from the floor to overhead.

All this activity would seem to indicate only one thing. A revolt is brewing on the Collegeville campus! The radical element in the school is getting in shape to fight for the rights and privileges they want.

Revolt in the Wind

The Puma Grows...

BY TOM FEDEWA

ST. JOE'S 65-54 victory over Huntington's Foresters last Thursday night is noteworthy on two accounts. The win cracked a string of five consecutive defeats that started with Evansville back on December 22, 1948, and included losses to St. Ambrose, Valparaiso, St. Norbert's and Ball State. . . . And it marked the initial win of the season to be garnered on an opponent's court, thus breaking an apparent jinx that has dogged the heels of the squad on all road trips. . . . The Bees from St. Ambrose hold a comfortable lead in Midlands Conference competition. . . . With three wins against no losses they pace Loras, St. Norbert's, and St. Joseph's who follow in a deadlock for second place with one win and two losses respectively.

WITH SEVEN wins and six defeats chalked up on the master scoreboard the Cardinal and Purple cagers now boast a .538 percentage. . . . Encounters with highly-touted DePaul, Eastern Illinois, Indiana State, St. Ambrose, Loras, St. Norbert's, Anderson, Indiana State (a return engagement) and Valparaiso are yet to be played. . . . Puma cagers have especially set their sights for St. Ambrose, Valpo, and St. Norb, having fallen in defeat to them during the early part of the season.

FOR YOU statistics-hungry fans, here's a rundown of individual scoring so far this season (DePaul game not included):

	TP	GP	AVG.
Patterson, R.	158	13	12.2
Bauman	117	13	9.
Krodel	111	13	8.5
Barton	84	10	8.4
Dwyer	102	13	7.8
Wilz	95	13	7.3
Peters	49	12	4.1
*O'Donnell	19	5	3.8
Weinbrod	17	9	1.9
Tesmond	13	10	1.3
Kusek	2	2	1.
Patterson, D.	1	1	1.
Kacmar	2	3	.67
Schultheis	0	1	0.
Smith	0	1	0.

*Dropped from roster.

GEORGE PETERS' 20 points in the Huntington contest the other night set a new high for single-game scoring this season. . . . Peters and Patterson both have eight buckets each for field goal scoring honors in a single game, and Jack Dwyer's nine out of 12 free throws in the Loras game top the charity-toss department.

BALL STATE'S 85 points, which incidentally set a new all-time high for the Cardinal school, were the most scored in any single game against the Pumas. . . . According to press notices, the Cardinals were hotter than a ball of fire the night they encountered St. Joe. . . . Still smarting from the 33-0 defeat handed them by the Pumas on the gridiron last fall, they proceeded to burn up the nets with revenge. . . . The scorebook indicates that they hit 12 of their first 13 field goal attempts, connecting for a total of 22 out of 40 in the first half. . . . They completed the game with an even .500 percentage. . . . Understand the Pumas weren't idle in the meantime. . . . Led by Jack Dwyer who connected for 19 points, the Cardinal and Purple aggregation hit 30 out of 80 attempts from the field for a handsome .375 percentage, good enough in any man's language. . . .

HERE'S an interesting note on the Valparaiso contest. . . . The boy who dropped in the winning free throw in the final seconds of the St. Joe-Valpo game (resulting in a 49-48 Crusader victory), was Bill Schroer. . . . Schroer leads the nation in free-throw percentage and has twice been chosen by the Valpo U. Torch sports department as the "athlete of the week."

INTRAMURAL SIDELIGHTS

Climaxing the first round of intramural basketball, Paddy's Pigs of the "A" league, sparked by former varsity cager Jim Mangin, defeated last year's champion "J" Boys, 27 to 20.

Although the campus "book" intimidated the "J" Boys as an eight to five favorite, the champions seemed to be lost on the big floor. Paddy's Pigs gained a two-basket lead in the first quarter, and it was never in danger for the remainder of the game.

Gum Shoes Lead

In the "B" league competition seems to be narrowed down to four teams. Gooney Gum Shoes hold a one-game margin over three hard-pressing competitors. Gung Ho is in undisputed second place slot, while the Campus Trotters and Aces are tied for third, just two games behind the leaders.

"A" league teams have completed their first round, but the "B" league has barely reached the three-quarter mark. Because of the large entry in this league, each team must play 14 games to complete a round.

Drop Language As Requirement For Graduation

Foreign language credits are no longer a universal requirement for graduation from St. Joseph's College, it was announced by the Rev. Walter Pax, Dean of the College, at a meeting of the student body, Tuesday, Jan. 18.

"However," stated Father Pax, "foreign language has been retained as a 'must' for students majoring in chemistry and for those engaged in pre-medical studies."

In his address, the College Dean went on to express the importance of mastering a foreign language along with other courses. He emphasized the value of being acquainted with any language which opens numerous fields of employment to students in advertising, international banking, export trade, aviation, broadcasting, and many other careers.

"Also, the values continue in general education, the power of expression, the appreciation of cultural backgrounds, and the understanding of people as neighbors," Father Pax went on to say.

Language Problem Studied

The faculty of St. Joseph's voted to drop the language requirement only after a thorough investigation into the needs and desires of the students now enrolled at the College. A study of the language problem was begun in divisional meetings of the faculty last year. The conclusion was reached that the course offerings in a number of departments ought to be extended in order to meet the vocational objectives of students, and that making foreign language an elective rather than a general requirement would permit such expansion.

This decision will give the individual student more liberty and responsibility in making his choice of curriculum and suggests more dependence on the guidance of faculty advisers and major professors.

Father Pax concluded by saying that "We still believe in the values of training in foreign languages such as German, French, and Spanish. A reading knowledge of a modern foreign language for students who want a strong A.B. Degree in the liberal arts tradition continues to be desirable in every department. It also remains a practical necessity for every student who wants to go on for graduate study, to work for a Master's or Doctor's degree."

Suffering their second one-point loss on the road and their fourth setback of the campaign, the Puma hardwooders were slipped a 71-70 "mickey" by St. Norbert's Green Knights in West De Pere, Wis. The winning St. Norbert free toss resulted from a technical foul called on a St. Joe player sitting on the bench.

of Gaspar could sweep the campus, and the Rec Hall would make a first-class headquarters. One of the first objectives is the cafeteria. Its capture would cut off the enemy's supply lines.

But liberty, equality, and brotherhood are doomed to die a premature death in the minds of the great men planning the coup. The weight lifting exercises will result in nothing more than split seams in the masterminds' coats. For the army of rugged individualists couldn't hope to accomplish anything, unless a surprise attack could be held in the dead of night. And that is impossible, since the big brave boys have to be in bed at 11:00 o'clock.

Oriental Rite Mass Feb. 13 Exemplifies Variety in Unity

On Sunday, Feb. 13, at 9:30 A.M., St. Joseph's will have the privilege of witnessing a Mass of Oriental Rite. Father Paul Dano, assistant pastor of St. Mary's Greek Catholic church in Whiting, will celebrate the Mass in the College Chapel. He is a member of the Byzantine-Slavonic Rite, and a priest of the Pittsburgh Greek Rite Ordinate, whose bishop is His Excellency the Most Rev. Daniel Ivancho, D.D. Father Dano will be assisted by seminarians from St. Procopius in Lisle, Ill., and by forty members of his parish choir. This Oriental Mass is sponsored by the Sanguinist Club.

The true Church of Christ could countenance among her members no diversity in beliefs nor in moral code, but she does tolerate and even encourage differences in certain fields. Great divergence exists, for instance, in the rubrics and ceremonies surrounding the celebration of the Holy Sacrifice. The ceremonies most familiar to American Catholics are called Roman Rite, but there are seven other rites or modes of worship in use in various parts of the world at the present time: the Ambrosian and Mozarabic in the Western World; the Coptic, Armenian, and Byzantine in the Oriental Church.

Slavonic Used in Mass

The Oriental Mass on Feb. 13 will be said in the Byzantine Rite which is the most widespread and the most important of the Oriental Church. The original language of this rite was Greek, but in the course of time other languages were introduced. The Mass here will be sung in Slavonic.

Many of the differences between the Roman Rite and the Byzantine Rite are immediately apparent. The latter employs much more singing than the former—singing which has a spirit all its own. The vestments are richer and of a different style. Communion is received by all, priest as well as laity, under both species, bread and wine.

The general law of the Church permits students of the Oriental Rites to marry before they reach the diaconate. After the diaconate, however, they must remain celibate. Bishops are always chosen from the celibate clergy. Yet, in recent years, the Church has required celibacy of all who wish to be ordained in the Oriental Rites in the United States. All the legislation for the Eastern Rites is regulated by a special congregation set up in Rome, the Congregation of the Oriental Church.

Variety in Unity

The presentation of this Rite on Feb. 13 is a magnificent opportunity for the students of St. Joseph's to witness a form of worship different from their own, to appreciate the beauty of a ritual ancient in the Church—ceremonies instituted by such luminaries of the Church as Sts. Ambrose, John Chrysostom, Cyril and Methodius. It is an opportunity to experience the grandeur of variety in unity which has ever marked the true Church of Christ. A commentator will aid in following the Mass by explanations of the ceremonies as they take place. In the afternoon a program of folk songs will be offered by the choir, and questions will be answered concerning the Eastern Liturgies. It is hoped that all students will avail themselves of these opportunities.
